Better expected fractions do not establish unique physical inversion

